No Undue Familiarity Between the Pastor and Mrs. Tilton.

The Charge of Adultery Emphatically Denied.

Interviews with Mr. and Mrs. Tilton.

A Conference with the "Mutual Friend."

NEW YORK, April 2, 1875.

The corridors of the Brooklyn City Court House were crowded from an early hour this morning, but only those holding tickets of admission to the great trial were permitted to approach the City Court room. These were placed in long lines and allowed to file into the Court until all the seats were occupied, when the doors were closed. The number of women was largely in excess of the previous day, and the Plymouth church delegation had an augmentation, including some of the chief members of society. The plaintiff's lawyers were earliest in attendance, and with them was General Pryor, who had been absent for the past few days.

Shortly after Mr. Beecher's entrance he ascended the witness stand.

Visitors.

Mr. Evarts introduced John Bigelow, late United States Minister to France, to Judge Neilson, who invited him to a seat on the bench, where was already seated the Assistant Attorney General of the United States. The Speaker of the House of Representatives of Virginia was honored with a seat near Judge Neilson.

Beecher Again on the Stand.

At ten minutes past eleven the examination of Mr. Beecher was resumed. He first made a correction of yesterday's testimony, by saying that he was intimate with the families of Dr. Storrs and Dr. Conant, who were not of his congregation.

The examination of Mr. Beecher was then continued, as follows: I remember Miss Bessie Turner coming to me in December, 1870, but I remember only once, though she may have called afterwards; it was near the middle of December, I think; I can only give the substance of what passed, and she called about the middle of the forenoon and said she was told to tell me to go down and see Mrs. Tilton at her mother's house, as she had never to return, on account of ill-treatment; she said, I think, that she was cognizant of his violence; that he had struck her once or twice, and that he had sought her company in her bed, and told her that such expressions of love were as natural as kissing and caressing; I have not heard from any other source of this relation between me and Miss Turner. I had joined the Hanover street church in Boston, in 1828, and was then about fifteen years old, and from that time onward I have continued my connection with it in the same denomination, and have maintained active connection with my church as a communicant. I have always maintained a relation with the Congregational and Presbyterian Churches. I Never Gotany Instruction in Religion,

as the atmosphere was full of it and as pure as crystal. I remember Paul's death; I think it was in August, 1868; I was suffering from ague, and came down and saw Mr. and Mrs. Tilton; at the time of Ralph's birth I do not recollect any particular visits or making any gifts of flowers; during the summer I used to bring little baskets of flowers from my farm and distributed them right and left. In winter I used to sometimes buy them and distribute them.

Kate Carey's Story Refuted.

I don't remember any visits while Mrs. Carey was there, or any scene when Mrs. Tilton sat on my knee or lap. I do not even remember that she ever addressed me as "my father" or dear father;" she always called me Mr. Beecher, or my friend, or sir, when she was addressing me. I never remember an interview with Mrs. Tilton when Mr. Richards was present.

Beecher's Visits to the Tiltons.

I have no recollection of making any visit at eight in the morning when Mr. Brazier was passing, but there may have been; I cannot remember; during their residence at No. 174 Livingston street, from 1866 to 1870, my visits on an average were from once in ten days to once in three weeks; my visits there were not oftener than thirteen times in a year. During these visits my manner was much the same as in my own home; they kept an open, hospitable house, and allowed their friends the utmost freedom; the children were almost always present at these visits; they were no inconsiderable part of my visits, and sometimes they secured the visits altogether.

Our Conversations

were of different kinds—books, literature and, above all, of Theodore Tilton. [Sensation.] Mrs. Tilton's manner of speaking of her husband was kind and eulogistic, and when she disclosed the religious difference between them I was surprised; she consulted me with regard to her duty to her husband and children, and she asked for my advice and counsel on this matter; she asked me if it was right to bring up her children under a parent who seemed to have a doubt of the truth of the Bible and disbelieved in the divinity of Christ; I think this was not far from the year 1867; when I first became acquainted with Mrs. Tilton I was chiefly struck by her simplicity of manner, and during her domestic trials I was impressed by her religious nature; she was actively engaged in benevolent work; she was and appeared devoted to him; her feelings toward me were as her pastor and friend; I never thought she displayed any sympathy of closer affection; I had a life-long affection of respect and esteem for her; I had the utmost respect and affection for her as a Christian woman, a wife and a mother, but no affection in any other connection; the 30th of October, 1868, I remember it as it was prayer meeting night, and after it I went to the Academy of Music; I saw Mrs. Tilton at that meeting and had a conversation with her about being present at the dinner of Rev. Morley Punshon, the celebrated English preacher; the conversation was about my being present on that occasion; I have no recollection of being in town on the 17th of December, but I may have been; I spent a great portion of my time at Peekskill on both the 10th and 17th of October; I may have been present at New York on Saturday; I visited my greenhouse; I usually make it a day of vacation, and visit the Park, book stores and walk up and down the streets; I did not usually visit my friends on that day, nothing occurred on either the 10th or 17th between Mrs. Tilton and me that has impressed itself on my mind; up to December, 1870, there had never been any undue familiarity between us; I never directly or indirectly made any improper proposals to her; I never had any favors from her. It would be impossible with such a woman.

Adultery Denied.

I never had carnal intercourse or connection during that time with Mrs. Tilton. [This drew forth applause from the audience, which was promptly suppressed by the officers under the direction of the Court.] [The witness was handed a letter sent to him by Mr. Tilton through Mr. Bowen, dated December 26, 1870.] He said: I remember receiving such a letter; Mr. Bowen brought me the letter, and said it was from Tilton; I opened it and read it, and said, this is sheer insanity.

This Man is Crazy.

Mr. Bowen said he had not read it, and I handed it to him to read it. I made some expression of surprise that Tilton should have written such a letter to him; Mr. Bowen said he and Tilton had some difference between them and he proceeded to talk about Tilton; he said he had dismissed Tilton from the editorship of the Independent to that of contributor on account of business reasons, as Tilton's views did not agree with those of the paper; that when he had dismissed him stories were told him about Tilton; one was in regard to the woman at Winsted and another in the northwest; one was the woman in the office to whom he had made improper advances. I told him I was and told him what Bessie Turner told me, and also said there was another woman with whom rumor connected him; I asked him to see my wife and talk with her about it; he expressed some repugnance at first, but afterwards went into the parlor and spoke to her. Bowen said he had a doubt as to whether he could retain him on the Brooklyn Union, and that he could not retain him in any position on the Independent. Bowen grew more and more friendly, and on account of this attack he said I ought to go out of town, and he would stand by me as a friend; this was near five o'clock in the afternoon of the 26th of December. I will not say Bowen came from Tilton's, but he said Tilton had requested him to give me this letter between the 26th and 30th of December. I never had interviews or heard from Bowen, Tilton or Mrs. Tilton.

An Interview With Tilton.

About seven o'clock on the evening of the 29th, Moulton called on me and said Tilton was at his house and desired an interview immediately. I said it was my prayer meeting night; he said to get some person in my place and go with him; I did so; when I reached the corner of Clinton and Montague streets, I asked him what Tilton wanted; he said I would see when I went there; there was some conversation about Tilton's leaving the Independent, but I cannot remember what; Moulton and I entered the house and he locked the door; he said "Tilton is in the upper front parlor waiting for you." I asked him to go up: he said "You had better go alone." Tilton met me there in a most stately manner; asked me to take a chair, which I did; he drew a small paper out of his pocket, and sitting down he said, "I have summoned you to this interview on matters of importance;" he asked me if I had received his letter from Bowen, calling for my resignation and leaving Brooklyn; I said "I did," and he said he wanted to recall it, and wished me to think it had never been written: he said it was this letter, but a grander thing to take it back. He then spoke of his troubles with Bowen, and charged me with being concerned in them and acting against him. He said I had not only injured him in business prospects, but had also insinuated myself into his household and displaced him; that I had conspired with his wife and her mother for a separation; that I had taught her to lie, and that under my influence she had become deceitful and untrustworthy; that I, who had tied their nuptial knot, had reached out my hand to unloose it; that I had made overtures to her of an improper character. I made some reply; he read to me what purported to be a letter from his wife, stating that Mr. Beecher had asked her to be a wife to him, with all that that implied; that he had burned up the original and would burn this copy, that there would not be a line against the reputation of his wife; he said, "I want you to go down to see my wife at her house;" this staggered me; I said, "This is but a dream, and can never be what you charge against your wife," and he said, "Go down; it is but a few blocks off."

An Interview With Mrs. Tilton.

Mr. Moulton went with me to Mrs. Tilton's; I never invited him to go there; when I went to Mr. Tilton's I do not remember who opened the door; they told me to go up stairs; I went up and knocked, and the door was opened by Mrs. Tilton; no person was there during our interview; it was up stairs in double rooms connected by folding doors; Mrs. Tilton was supported, reclining in bed, with her hands folded; her eyes were closed; she did not accost me; she was as one dead. I sat down on a chair by her bedside, and said——

Mr. Beach objected here to the conversation, but Judge Neilson decided to take it. Mr. Beach said he did not think the conversation would form any part of the evidence.

Witness continued: I said, "Elizabeth, I have just seen your husband, and had a long interview with him; he has sent me to you to verify what he said; he has charged me with alienating your affections from him, and with teaching you untruthfulness and deceit; he has charged me with making improper advances to you."

The Retraction.

I asked her did she say so; she said: "My friend, I could not help it." I said, "You knew those things were not so;" she said she could not help it; she said something about if she confessed that her affections had been alienated from him, he might be induced to restore his alienated affections; she asked me what she should do, and I said she could retract these charges in writing; she said she would do it if it was not to be used against her husband. I brought her writing materials and she raised herself up in the bed and wrote the first part of the letter of retraction.

Mr. Evarts showed the letter to witness, and asked him what portion was written. He asked and received permission to read it, which he did, and then continued: I did not suggest these words to her, and she then wrote the additional part of the letter saying that I never had behaved improperly to her. When she spoke of injury to her husband, I told her harm might come to me in the church, and

I Wanted the Letter for My Defence.

I said she was not doing me any injury alone, but would injure herself and her children in case matters were ever brought out. She stated a good deal more, but I cannot recall it. This interview lasted, it seemed to me, ten hours. It really lasted, I think, about half an hour. I put the retraction in my pocket. I spoke to Mrs. Tilton with some severity during this interview, and was sorry afterwards that I did. I then left the house, but saw nobody going out, and went to Mrs. Moulton's, and saw him there, and he asked me if I saw Mrs. Tilton. I think I informed him I had seen her, and I said I was going home. He suggested going with me, and attended me to the house. There was some conversation between us on the way, I think, about the Bowen letter and Bowen's treatment of Tilton. He did all the talking and I answered him in monosyllables. We reached the house about nine or ten. I have no method of fixing the time except by the length of the interviews.

Recess.

The Court here took the usual recess of one hour. During Mr. Beecher's narration of the interviews he seemed much affected. His voice was husky betimes, and he spoke in tremulous tones, and great, large tears stood in his eyes. The spectators also seemed deeply moved. When Mr. Beecher stepped down from the witness chair he immediately went to Mr. Shearman, of his counsel, and had a conversation with him, lasting some fifteen minutes. He then retired, his wife leaning on his arm, and as they walked to their carriage a large crowd followed them.

After the recess the examination of Mr. Beecher was continued.

Refuting Moulton's Testimony.

Question. Mr. Beecher, on the night of the 13th of December, which we have gone over, I wish to ask you some questions as to what has been stated by other witnesses. Moulton has testified that you asked him on this night if he had seen Elizabeth's confession. Did you ask Moulton that question? Answer. I did not.

Q. Did you, on that night, in conversation with Moulton, at any part of the evening, use any such expression as this: "It will kill me?" A. I don't recall any such. I might have done it.

Q. On that subject was anything said by Moulton to you or by yourself to Moulton on the subject of sexual intercourse between you and Mrs. Tilton? A. No, sir; no, sir.

Q. Was there anything said concerning any confession of sexual intercourse between you and Mrs. Tilton? A. No, sir, not a word.

Q. On that night did any one speak to you of, or did you speak to any one of the subject or fact of sexual intercourse between Mrs. Tilton and yourself? A. No, sir; no, sir. It is such loathsome and odious stuff that I don't talk about it.

The Next Interview With Moulton.

Q. When next did you see Moulton or Tilton? A. I did not see Tilton again that I remember until the 3d of January.

Q. And you saw Moulton when? A. On the 31st of December, the next night following this interview.

Q. How did that occur? A. He came to my house, rang, came in, and called for me. I went up stairs with him into my bedroom and shut the door. He then went to the bureau, where the gas lights were burning, and took his position on the left hand side and I stood on the other—that is as we went up to it—and he made some introductory remarks, which I cannot now give, but drew a letter out of his pocket from Theodore Tilton. In it Tilton stated that after going home last night he found that I had to procure from his wife a retraction of the charges that had been made against me; that was the substance of it. There was some little more which I don't remember. He then proceeded in substance that he presumed this was so. I said I had. He said he thought I had acted a very indiscreet part, a dishonorable one, that I had no right to take advantage of such a situation to obtain such a retraction, and I claimed the right of self-defence. He then said that such a course was indiscreet and inexpedient on my part, no matter what my reasons were; that it tended to increase the difficulty between Tilton and his wife and between Tilton and me, and that instead of leading to peace and to quiet, it tended exactly the other way, and that I ought to give up her retraction. I argued with him on that matter, and for some little time there was an interchange backwards and forwards of thought. He then drew from his pocket a letter, purporting to be from Mrs. Tilton.

Mrs. Tilton's Letter.

Mr. Beecher read aloud the following:

"SATURDAY MORNING.—My dear friend Frank: I want you to do me the greatest possible favor. My letter which you have, and the one I gave Mr. Beecher at his dictation last evening, ought both to be destroyed. Please bring both to me, and I will burn them. Show this note to Theodore and Mr. Beecher. They will see the propriety of this request.

"Yours truly,

(Signed) "E. R. TILTON."

Beecher Perplexed.

I was perplexed a little at the existence of that letter denying the accusation. However, that was a mere transient thought in my mind. The main thought was, What would tend to peace and reconciliation? Moulton asked me, I think, what Bowen told me in the interview of the 26th. I gave him a description of that interview, and as it was then quite fresh, probably more literally and full than I have given it here, but to the same general purport. I said that Bowen had brought that letter, and said that he brought it casually as a kindness to Tilton at his request. Then Moulton said, using expletive, that Bowen had proved treacherous, that Bowen was occupied with Tilton in the making of that letter, and that he had promised, if Tilton would send it to me, that he would back him up in the charges, and he spoke with emphasis upon that matter. I think that he then asked me about what Bowen had charged to me were Tilton's offenses. I said that Bowen had represented to me that Tilton's opinions were becoming so loose that he found it was injuring, or was likely to injure, the Independent, and that he had found it necessary to dispossess him of his editorial position and put him in a subordinate position; that up till that time he had never heard a whisper, that is Bowen never had against the moral character of Tilton, but no sooner was it known that he had reduced Tilton, than there came pouring in upon him

Very Strong Language,

Stories From One and From Another.

He said he could hardly cross the ferry but somebody came to him and congratulated him upon having put Tilton out of that position, and telling him some reason in the form of a charge against Tilton why he should have done it. I told him he also said that as a result of that first step, charges had been made against Tilton of a most shocking character. He instanced one or two cases—the Winsted, one in the Northwest, and one in Rome—where else I have forgotten where, but stated as one that was fresh in his mind, and with some particularity of detail an event that occurred in his own office at the Union, the Brooklyn Union. I then told him that it was

A Singular Coincidence.

I told him that there had come to my knowledge within a very brief period charges of a similar character. I related to him the interview between me and Bessie Turner. I related to him the interview between me and Mrs. Tilton and her mother. I went into details about that. I narrated to him that there were current reports and rumors which now seemed to him to gather force in respect to another person. There was something, a considerable conversation, around about that point. Moulton told me that of his own personal knowledge many of these stories were false, that he believed Tilton to be a man absolutely chaste and faithful to his marital relations. I told him that that was not the matter that hurt me most. I felt very acutely that I had done wrong, even in those respects, toward Mrs. Tilton. His assurance that Tilton was blameless in these respects brought upon me that was very hard to bear. If there was anything, I told him, in this earth that I abhorred, it was scandal and talking and rumors about people, that I had kept myself clean from them, and that few persons in the world dare tell me such things, and to find that I had been caught in the slum of scandal was very hard for my pride; that I had listened to these stories, and that I had believed them, and that I was ashamed and mortified about it, and that it was all the worse because it was toward a friend whom I had known and whom I had loved, and whose household was to me like my own home, and that it was not the way that Tilton had treated me when I was in adversity. He dropped everything and went for the service of me because it was my son, which was more than me. He and went to Washington and did a great office of kindness for me; but when he was in trouble I found that the first thing that I had done was to take sides against him and add to the weight that was threatening to crush him, and that I could not bear that, and that as it regarded his household I did not know hardly what to say. I could not understand it how Elizabeth should have called me to a meeting to counsel her about a separation without letting me know either before or at that interview. That there had ever been a discrepancy in the household of such a kind as there had been I could not understand. I was

A Sense of Wrong

Dropped Everything

by it, but that it seemed to me that if she had been led to transfer her affections from her husband by reason of my presence, I could not but feel that I was blameworthy, that she was a woman so quiet and so simple; her exterior life was so far from that that I had never suspected it, but that her conduct seemed to be now such as led me to feel that there had been—that the allegation had not been untrue that I had warped her affection which her husband made in the interview of the 13th and that it seemed that she must have been broken down in her moral nature—such charges and retractions and withdrawal of retractions. It was

and indicated that great mischief had been done in that household, and that I had been the occasion of it was very plain and very evident, though I had not suspected it, and that led to some conversation to which I expressed my doubt of whether this was the first time that I had given vent to all my thoughts and feeling. The other interviews had been, as it were, diplomatic, but I felt that Moulton was a friend to both sides, and for the first time I gave air to the pent-up feeling that I had. I walked about the room in great agitation and great self-condemnation. I said to him that I could not conceive of anything for which a man should blame himself more utterly than to intrude upon a household and to be the means of breaking it up, that was that it gave strength, and that I had always supposed that my presence in their family was giving strength to all of them, that it was a blessing to the children, that it was a help to his wife in her duties, and that it was not without a beneficial influence to Tilton in the long run, and this came upon me like a thunder clap, and I was amazed and bewildered by it. I think it was perhaps in that relation, where I was somewhat doubting whether it could possibly be true, that Moulton said to me, sitting in his chair [here Mr. Beecher put his leg over the arm of the chair in illustration], with an intelligent look, "Why, there is no doubt about that, Mr. Beecher, Elizabeth Tilton loves your little finger more than she does the whole body of Mr. Tilton." I accepted it. I had no mean of contradiction. I said to myself "It has been burning concealed, and I knew nothing of it." I felt ashamed to say "It is not my fault." I felt rather the impulse, I suppose, which every gentleman will understand, to say "I ought to have forseen. I was the oldest man, the oldest person. I was the one that had had experience. She was a child. If she did not know that the tendrils of her affection were creeping upon me, I ought to supplying have known it," and I expressed myself without measure on that subject, and I alluded in the conversation to the conflict which I had, the sense of the feeling that I had always had for her as a saint-like person, and the conflict that now was in my mind in respect to her as one that had brought these false charges against me, and taken them back, and was acting in a manner almost like one that was bereft of reason, and that the two images—I couldn't understand it.

My Idea of Friendship and Love

BOSTON.

Labor Troubles in Cotton Mills.

BOSTON, April 2.—Labor troubles are reported in several cotton manufacturing towns in this State and New Hampshire, caused, as alleged, by an imperative order from Fall River, the head centre of the National Union, requiring the operatives to demand a restoration of the former prices. The strike at Great Falls, N. H., is not general, and the corporation claim that it is now virtually ended, new hands being easily procured. No concession in the prices will be made. At Lowell, Mass., notice of an intention to strike was given by the mule spinners only in the Massachusetts, Prescott and Lawrence mills, and increased pay is demanded in all the other factories. The Mule Spinners' Union at first voted not to strike, but upon the receipt of imperative orders from the National Association, served their notice upon the mills mentioned. The agents have uniformly declared that the increase demanded will not be paid, and a meeting of directors will be held in Boston to devise means for supplying the places of the strikers. At Newburyport, Massachusetts, the weavers in all the mills demanded a full restoration of twenty-seven cents per hundred weight, and the Peabody and the Masconomett corporations acceded to the demand. The Bartlet and Ocean mills have not acquiesced, and the weavers employed there will give notice on Monday of their intention to quit work.

Geo. Q. Cannon on Trial for Polygamy—Prosecution Barred by Limitation—The Defendant Discharged.

SALT LAKE, April 2.—Geo. Q. Cannon, Delegate for Utah, was on trial to-day for polygamy. The defense was that he had contracted no polygamous marriage within two years preceding the indictment and prosecution, and did not expect to prove marriage within two years. The Court held that it was the act of consummating the second or other marriage subsequent to the first which constituted an offense under the statute, therefore prosecution was barred by United States and State limitations. The defendant was discharged.

AMUSEMENTS.

Pittsburgh Opera House.

Miss Gray's benefit last night was well attended and so satisfactory was her rendition of the character of Ruth Tredgett that she was called before the curtain at the close of every act. At the matinee this afternoon "Charity" will be repeated, and Miss Gray's engagement closes to-night, when she appears in "Lucretia Borgia" and the farce of "Sally Scraggs."

On Monday evening the famous Kiralfys appear in the spectacular play of "The Deluge; or Paradise Lost." The scenery for this drama is said to have been painted in Europe, from sketches by Gustave Dore, and the armour and other paraphernalia to have been made in Paris, where the play had a long and successful season.

The Readings Last Night.

The inclemency of the weather last evening interfered somewhat with the attendance at Library Hall, but nevertheless, there was a good audience present—and one that was conspicuous for culture and intelligence. Under the circumstances the attendance was a marked compliment to Miss Cushman,—and one which she in every way deserved, for the entertainments given by her never fail to afford both pleasure and profit to those who attend. This was the case last evening,—or at least the audience seemed to think so—judging from the very frequent applause which they bestowed.

The programme for the evening was divided into two parts—the first comprising selections from "Romeo and Juliet," which gave full opportunity for the display of the rare dramatic genius which has made the name of the reader and actress so famous. In the scenes selected, Miss Cushman gave evidence that she has lost none of that singularly keen perception of the meaning of the author, and the peculiar power of realistic rendering of the meaning by her reading, which have always been her marked characteristics. She seemed to give fresh force and vitality to the sentiments of the great bard, and to bring out every shade of thought with marvelous nicety and force of expression.

The second part of the programme was devoted to pieces of a lighter character. The first was Longfellow's "Skeleton in Armor." This is a thrilling selection in any event, but, as read by Miss Cushman, seemed to be permeated with a fire and spirit that would have satisfied even the poet in his most exacting moods. The second selection was "the Annuity," full of humor that touched the risibilities of the audience in an explosive way, and kept up the laughter almost from the beginning to the end of the selection. Lastly came Carleton's "New Church Organ," in which the sorrows of the lady who didn't believe in such new fangled notions were very happily portrayed. Grace Greenwood won great praise for her reading of this poem when she was here, but as read last night by Miss Cushman last night it was doubly enjoyable. The great reader seems to be equally at home in comedy or tragedy, and in all, her rare genius and culture are conspicuous.

To-day there will be a matinee, commencing at two o'clock. The following is the programme:

Part First—Selections from Hamlet.—Shakespeare.

Part Second—"Kentucky Bell," Miss Woolson. "Death of the Old Squire," Anon. Honest Poverty, Robert Burns.

Dora.

The charming drama of "Dora" will be played this evening at Library Hall, by the O. B. Doud Dramatic Association. Inasmuch as this entertainment is to be given for the purpose of raising funds for the relief of the poor it should be liberally patronized. Seats are for sale at Kleber's on Wood street. Nearly every charity entertainment this winter has been well attended, and we do not think the one to-night will be an exception to the rule.

The Centennial Tea Party.

In another column will be found a list of the lady officers and managers who have charge of the series of Centennial Tea Parties, which are announced for Wednesday, Thursday and Friday evenings and Saturday afternoon of next week at Library Hall. The music will be furnished by the Germania Orchestra and Co. "G," of the Duquesne Greys, will be in attendance as a guard of honor.

Academy of Music.

On Friday and Saturday evenings of next week and at the matinee on Saturday afternoon the celebrated opera bouffe, "Girofle-Girofla," which recently had a successful run of two months in New York City, will be presented at the Academy of Music. The sale of seats commences next Wednesday.

Trimble's Varieties.

Mr. Aims has collected a good company, comprising some of our best artists in the variety business, the we are not surprised that he is consequently meeting with success. The programme includes many choice specialties and is quite attractive. The regular matinee will be given this afternoon.

Still on the War Path.

The dull times seem to have no effect on B. Tiegel who has filled his counters, and shelves with an excellent and fashionable stock of all the finest novelties in spring wear, and suits will be made to measure with a full guaranty as to fit, genuineness of material and general excellence. Prices very reasonable for suits of fashion and elegance at No. 53 Smithfield street.

RANDALL is declared to have the inside track in the race for the Speakership of the next House, at Washington,—and his strong claim is his extremism in the advocacy of such ideas as are specially palatable to the South.

SENATOR WALLACE is very palpably what may be called an "anthracite logician." He charges on the President the responsibility for the mining troubles in the anthracite regions of this State. His progress of reasoning is this: The President caused the outbreaks in Louisiana; these occasioned the business depression of the State, and out of this came the mining troubles! Therefore the President is the root cause of the entire difficulty. Could anything be more convincing?

THERE is a disposition to examine the Sioux treaty, under which that tribe holds the Black Hills country. It is claimed at the West that they have forfeited it, by violating a provision in it which requires them to abstain from molesting settlers or travelers. It is well known that the Sioux are particularly criminal as regards this clause of the treaty. Hence, if they will not agree to the peaceable extinguishment of their treaty, it is proposed to have it done as a punishment for their crimes.

THE new postal law in its application to transient matter, such as pamphlets, bears very severely on the public, and excites severe dissatisfaction. We were shown, yesterday, a pamphlet, issued by one of the hardware firms of this city, which, we were told, cost under the old law, one cent to send through the mails, but now costs ten cents. This is an increase that is entirely oppressive. We hope the postal authorities will see their way clear to defer the operation of the new law till it can be amended or repealed by Congress.

"WHEN the House meets," says the Post, referring to the Forty-fourth Congress, "the people may expect some startling exposures." We imagine we have had a few Democratic promises to consider before this, and have seen just how far they were realized. We were to have had a model Legislature at Harrisburg. The outcome was a riotous body, an ignorant Speaker, and general pandemonium at times. If the Post can point out a single virtuous performance by that body, it is more than others can. Yet what wondrous promises preceded it!

THE New York Tribune is having rather a dreary time of it in getting up a sensation over the Canal Ring frauds. The frauds are bad enough,—equal to the best efforts of the Democratic party in that line, but the object of the Tribune is so evidently sensational, that it falls rather flat. The Times did up the exposure business in the Tweed case so effectually, that after efforts of the kind seem only a pitiable attempt to copy that rare and wonderfully beneficial performance. The Tribune is in a split stick,—it supports the very political party that perpetrated and will defend these frauds.

THE Connecticut election will certainly be a fair test of the strength of the two parties in that State at this time. Both are straining every nerve, and the best speakers and most vigorous efforts are being made to rouse the people and command every available vote. On the Republican side, Speaker Blaine, Generals Hawley, Garfield, of Ohio, and King of Maryland, Hale, and Frye, of Maine, Governor Noble of Wisconsin, and others, are stumping, while on the Democratic side Senators Bayard, of Delaware, Eaton, and Sunset Cox and others are speaking. The press is thoroughly roused, and politics are at white heat in the nutmeg State. The result will be watched with great interest through the entire country.

THE Civil Rights bill has had a month's run, and seems to have been productive of little good. It simply proves that respectable places,—as cars, hotels, and places of decent resort either do not discriminate against colored people, or that they are not patronized by our new citizens, while drinking and gambling places are bones of contention. So far as our memory serves us, every legal contest which has arisen under this bill has had reference to a drinking or gambling place. The decisions have been uniformly against the applicability of the Civil Rights law to such places. If the colored people desire the swift repeal of the law, they will continue to annoy the public by suits for drinking or gaming privileges, and the result will be certain.

WILKINSBURG finds itself greatly embarrassed in reference to its school affairs, as a result of the decision of the Supreme Court, severing the Thirty-seventh ward from the balance of the city. A meeting was held there a few evenings since, to arrange this difficulty, and provide for a continuance of the school to the close of the school year. An effort was made to induce Mr. Kelly to agree that the schools might be declared an independent district, and so be provided for. He refused, probably because he had been in some way antagonized. Mr. Kelly is usually very much interested in education, having repeatedly promised to give large tracts of property toward the establishment of institutions of learning. For some reason his offers have never been availed of, but they indicate his interest, all the same.

THE memory of the Emperor Maximilian seems to be revered in Austria, despite his unfortunate Mexican career. He was popular at home, for his genial qualities and clever scientific attainments, before he proceeded to Mexico; and the romantic, yet unfortunate features of his career there,—his mild reign and unfortunate death, only served to endear his memory all the more to his countrymen. This regard for him has found expression yesterday in the dedication of a monument to his memory. The occasion was celebrated with much earnestness, and the ceremonies were very impressive. This may be said to be the last occurrence that will recall that sad attempt to control Mexico by foreign power. Napoleon is dead, Juarez is in his grave, Maximilian's memory has just been honored, Bazaine is a fugitive. How many changes a few years bring even to the prominent actors in events!

MENTION was made, in these columns, of the remarkable trial pending in India, at which one of the prominent counsellors in the Tichborne case, Sergeant Ballantyne, had been retained with a fee of large amount. It was that of the Guikwar of Baronda, accused of attempting the murder of Colonel Phayre, the Political Resident of his District. The ill feeling between the two grew out of the Resident's dissatisfaction at the marriage of the Guikwar, and the consequent investigation which followed. Arsenic and diamond dust had been given to the Resident's butler, with a promise of £10,000 when the murder was completed. The trial is just ended, the jury disagreeing, and a new trial is to be had. It is a case of large importance in India, and considering the anxiety of the Government to convict there is a very decided triumph for the Guikwar in the result reached. The case, however, illustrates some of the annoyances of English rule in India. A Political Resident is kept at the Court of a Prince who is personally hostile to him, and for whom the Resident probably entertained anything but kindly feelings. Thus a source of annoyance is kept up, and disagreements likely to occur. They culminate at last in an alleged attempt at murder,—the evidence of which is evidently defective. Thus irritations are created out of which wars eventually follow, and then the territory of the rebellious Prince is confiscated. Such is English rule in India.

WE HAVE already shown that the statistical reports of trade balances do not cover all the particulars, yet they are of value as showing, at least, the general drift of trade. The Bureau of Statistics has issued its report for 1874. According to this showing our imports for December were $38,957,603, against $35,653,846 for the same month in 1873. For the year 1874 the total imports amounted to $577,369,715, against $624,997,487 for 1873. The domestic exports for last December were $68,027,396, against $62,413,437 for the corresponding month of 1873, while for the years 1874 and 1873 the value was $620,473,735 and $606,361,988 respectively. Thus the monthly report shows an improvement of over five millions, and the yearly report of over fifteen, which, with the decrease in the year's imports added, give an increase in the balance of trade of nearly $62,000,000. The total number of immigrants who arrived in the United States during the twelve months ending December 31, 1874, was 260,814, of whom 159,936 were males. Of these Germany contributed 56,927; Ireland, 47,688; England, 43,396; Quebec and Ontario, 23,744, and other countries, 144. There is a falling off in immigration, as compared with the preceding year, but it is noticeably superior in quality. The proportion in learned professions and of skilled laborers is much greater than during previous years.

THE spirit manifested by a great political party may not seem a very tangible subject of criticism, yet this is what is being severely criticised in England. The Conservatives, now in power, under lead of Disraeli, are charged with arrogancy, in that they have shown contempt toward what has been regarded as wise and judicious legislation of the past two years. A bill is, indeed, developed, called the "Exchanges bill," which proposes to restore the old privileges of aristocracy and wealth, as to places in the army. The restoration of the judicial functions of the House of Lords, which were abolished only last year, and with the consent of the Conservatives, is also regarded as unfavorable. The spirit thus developed is obviously reactionary, and hence unpopular. The Liberals have in this a fine opportunity to regain a measure of their lost strength, but the misfortune is that they are not possessed of a leader who commands confidence. This is the great difficulty. In that country leadership is nearly everything; and the Marquis of Hartington is a mere dummy. An effort is being made to induce Gladstone to return to the leadership, and it has so far succeeded that he has consented to attend the sessions, and has made a strong speech in opposition to the "Exchanges" bill. But it is evident that he must come into full leadership, if his party would secure success. With this, the Conservatives may be troubled.

THE SCANDAL TRIAL.

We have no desire to occupy more than the necessary space with matter pertaining to the scandal trial, yet there are several items incidental to it which seem to demand notice at the present. As a trial, it is a very noteworthy event. The legal talent employed is among the best in the country, and every phase of the trial has been contested with masterly skill. The arguments, quotations from legal works, and contests over incidental yet at times vital points, have been carefully studied by lawyers, for the suggestive information contained. The characters of the parties involved, the enormity of the offense charged, also constitute elements in the importance of the case. Add to this that Beecher is a very guilty man, and a monstrous falsifier and hypocrite, or else he is terribly maligned, and Tilton and Moulton are vicious and corrupt to a degree, and we have the reasons why the public is deeply interested in the case. We attach no importance whatever to the idea that Christianity is on trial. Such is not the fact. The Christian religion dates back far beyond the history of Beecher or Brooklyn, and is not bound up in the lives of any set of men whatever. It is a place where men of prominence are involved in a deadly struggle, and the people are interested.

Whatever the outcome may be, as regards Beecher, there can be no doubt as to the fact that Tilton is shown up in a most terrible light. His testimony has been broken by witnesses who cannot be supposed to have a reason for traducing him. It is evident that his life has been, of late years, immoral; also, it is positively established that the idea of improper proposals was held until at the very last, when the grosser charge was substituted. The original complaint was that of interference to his injury in business. This was adjusted by the payment of a given sum, and the agreement that all papers should be burned. Moulton retained, but did not burn the documents, and these, finally, have been made the basis of the suit instituted. This agreement, thus violated by Moulton, in the interest of Tilton, and against Beecher, was made three years ago! It shows, more conclusively than all else, the corrupt character of the combination. The mystery in the affair is to know a sufficient motive for the final determination to prosecute Beecher, assuming that Tilton and Moulton knew he was not guilty. The motive in threatening prosecution is very evident,—it was intended to promote Tilton's financial advantage. But all this was dissipated the moment a suit was actually begun. The reason given for the suit of Tilton is, that he was put in a false position by the Plymouth Church party. But Beecher controlled the Plymouth Committee, and the strange circumstance is that he did not see that Tilton was not mistreated, if his own reputation would be thereby involved. His own version of the matter, as given to that Committee, certainly has been greatly strengthened, and is made all the more plausible by the evidence thus far adduced. It is that he was led to do what he deemed an injury to Tilton, and was tortured by it, until at last he saw through the machinations of the parties, and determined to break with them, receive such injury as was inevitable, and get rid of the matter, once for all.

His evidence will be more complete and detailed than was the original statement. He and Evarts have fully matured the testimony to be given, and it will undoubtedly fully cover every issue in the case. A rigid and exhaustive cross-examination may be looked for, and with it the conclusion of the case. As it now stands, however, it is clear that Beecher has much the best of it. What new evidence the prosecution may be able to put in cannot be conjectured, but the fact that they apparently put forth their strength at the outset would seem to indicate that they have done their utmost. If so, the case, thus far, is against them.

A Danbury Boy Has Fun.

Robert Collyer says the children must have less study and more fun. He is right. There is the boy in the family across the way. Last Thursday afternoon he put a dead mouse in his mother's work-basket, attached a split stick to the tail of the next-door cat, set the vinegar faucet up in business, palmed himself off as a ghost on the hired girl when she went down the cellar after the butter, besmeared his father's choice bantam rooster with blue ink, and finally wound up the entertainment by tying the boiler to a strange dog's tail, and slipping down in the slush and hurting his back. His exasperated father hardly knows which to hunt up first—the strange dog with the boiler or Robert Collyer.

COL. FRED. GRANT, it is said, will resign his army commission and go into the banking business next Fall. Democratic editors will weep when they reflect that he will not be in the public service during the Presidential election. However, they may be able to get up a story of a "ring" between his bank and the Treasury Department, which will answer all the purposes.—St. Louis Globe.

THE Duchess of Edinburgh, the Czar's daughter, at last has had a chance to throw her envious Guelph relations into the shadow. At the Queen's drawing-room, held a fortnight ago, she appeared in public for the first time since her marriage, and in a perfect blaze of diamonds. She wore, it is said, "rich blue velvet with garniture of the finest Russian sable, satin petticoat trimmed with bands of diamonds and large diamond tassels, and train of velvet." As the Princess Beatrice, who is the particularly warm enemy of the Duchess, has never been permitted by her royal ma to buy diamonds by the half bushel, she was disgusted with this display, and stayed at home to dishevel her hair and weep and make things stormy for her attendants. There is something awe-inspiring about these princely people.

THE Douglas Monument question is not yet out of the Illinois Legislature. The bill appropriating $50,000 has been defeated, but there is another still pending which provides for the removal of the remains to the grounds of the State University and authorizes the sale of the present site and the application of the proceeds for the completion of the monument. The history of previous legislation on the subject is given as follows by the Chicago Tribune: "In 1862 the Legislature appropriated $25,000 to purchase the present site, where the body of Douglass was buried. This was understood to have been all that was ever expected of the State. The title to that site is the property of the State. The two and one-half acres on which the incomplete monument now stands would bring, if put into the shape of lots, in round figures $50,000—perhaps $75,000. The most extravagant proposition was for a monument to cost $75,000; but we suppose a suitable and proper one could be built for $25,000 or $30,000. If the site be sold, it is natural to expect that the entire proceeds will be consumed one way or the other."

THE liquor bill, as substituted for the present prohibitory law of Massachusetts, finally passed in the House on Thursday. It requires the Governor's signature to become a law. A SPEAKER in a late Ohio Institute meeting wisely said: "Instead of parrot-like recitation, we want a thinking and reasoning about things. LAST SATURDAY a party of men hunting in Ness county, Kansas, seventy-five miles southwest of Fort Hays, found the dead bodies of three men in a roofless cabin. It is supposed they took refuge there during the severe snow storm in January last, and perished from cold and hunger. A yoke of oxen and a wagon were found near by, which probably belonged to the men.

THE house of Sylvanus Keller, in Jasper county, Mo., was blown down during a storm on the night of the 30th ultimo, and Keller, his wife and five children were buried in the ruins. Keller was fastened to the earth by a heavy beam. COLONEL FROBEL, who is now at Atlanta, will soon resume his survey of the rivers along the proposed line of the Great Western and Atlantic water-route. His report will indicate a singularly favorable water communication connecting the Mississippi River with the Atlantic Ocean, commencing at Cairo, Ill., and ending at Darien, Ga. The entire distance is nearly 1,000 miles, 900 of which are navigable rivers. Only 100 miles of artificial water-ways are therefore required, and no engineering difficulties are presented.

GEN. WM. G. MANK, who has held many important positions in the Government service, including Consul General to Mexico, was arrested by the Secret Service officers in New York, on Wednesday evening, on a charge of selling counterfeit money, and was committed to jail. Mank, at the time of his capture, had, it is charged, $200 in good greenbacks, which had been marked for identification and given to him in exchange for counterfeit currency. General Mank fought in the rebellion, commanding one of the regiments in the brigade of General Morton, now in the United States Senate. He draws a pension as Lieutenant Colonel, having been wounded several times.

TERRIBLE INDIAN CRUELTIES.

Captive Among the Comanches.

A young Texan who was captured by the Comanche Indians about a year ago, gave the following account of his experience recently to a correspondent of the Galveston News:

"I was trying to get five beef steers back to the herd early one morning last May, when I was suddenly surrounded by about twenty-five Comanche Indians, and taken prisoner. This happened near sunrise. I was tied on my horse and carried some thirty miles that day. At night we arrived at a sort of camp, where we joined fifty more Indians, and I found they had another white man prisoner. I was not allowed to speak with this man, but I could see from the blood on his face and clothes that he was wounded. As soon as the Indians had kindled a fire and eaten some meat, they began to torture this second prisoner, though for what reason I have never learned. They beat him with a cartridge-box strap with a large buckle on the end of it, after stripping him of his clothes. They cut gashes on him with knives. They sawed off his thumbs with an old cavalry sabre, and mashed his toes between a rock and the butt end of a carbine. After gouging out some of his teeth with a bayonet, and sticking cactus thorns in his flesh, they poured powder in his ears and burnt it. All this time the man did not complain or cry out, as he probably expected, by his fortitude, to induce the Indians to spare his life. But in this he was mistaken, for they, finding that he did not complain at all these tortures, began to cut pieces of flesh out of his legs and back and eat them; or at least pretended to eat—I think they onyl chewed up the flesh and spit it out. Seeing that all of this torture did not make him cry out (for he had fainted), the chief stepped up with a sharp knife and cut out one of his eyes, and put a live coal of fire in the socket, and then put an end to his life with a knife.

"The Indians then had a grand dance. I was tied to a small tree. I had no water or anything to eat for thirty-six hours. The next day about midday the party moved in a northwest course, traveling about twenty miles, and after this we moved in a northwest course about three hundred miles, where we met several large parties of Indians, some of whom had been on raids in Northern Texas. I remained in that section of country with the Comanches, and was kept employed mostly herding ponies, and sometimes dressing deerskins and buffalo hides. My clothes were all taken away from me a few days after I was captured, and I only had a pair of drawers and a blanket afterward. I often had to eat raw venison and buffalo meat without salt. After I had been with the Indians some six months they ceased to treat me as a prisoner, and I was allowed to go some distance from the camp. I think it was about the first of February I left them. I was herding ponies, and was allowed to ride one of the best without a saddle. The second night I took my buffalo robe and used it as a saddle, filled a sack with dried meat, and struck out for the settlements, which I reached towards the last of the month. I sold my horse and buffalo robe, and collected three months' pay that was due me at the time I was captured; and now, with God's help, I shall keep out of the way of the Inians hereafter."

Latest Advices Concerning Money and Stock Matters.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE,
SATURDAY, April 3, 1875.

There was less development of change in the financial status of the banks yesterday than was expected. The steady rains that were falling may have affected the progress of settlements, but be the cause what it may, yesterday was a dull day.

The prompt payment of the interest on the income bonds of the Allegheny Railroad, on the first, has had the effect of adding to the strength of those bonds in the general market. The promptness with which the first instalment of interest due was met, goes far towards justifying the views presented in the GAZETTE, that these bonds would be equal to any 7 per cent. railroad security on the market. When first issued they were depressed by false reports, and were taken charily by financiers. At that time we advised all who could to hold them, assuring the prompt payment of the interest. Time has passed and our views have been fully sustained. The fact that the road has paid this instalment of interest only proves what it is capable of doing. Its resources are only in process of development, and it is destined to be one of the very prosperous roads of the country.

—Says a Chicago paper of the first of April, of trade in that city: To-day is the first on which it could be said that there was positive revival in business. On the last two days of last week there was some little increase of business over the first half of the week. But there has been no day since last fall when there was such a general increase of trade (and by trade we mean the buying and selling of goods) as to-day. This is particularly noticeable in the dry goods jobbing houses, in all of which there are dozens of country merchants buying spring goods. The influx of the country merchants has been sudden. The great majority of them were probably started by the two or three warm days at the close of last week, which made it appear that it would probably be spring sometime after all. The country merchants in to-day seemed to be mainly from the near-by towns. They buy small bills and buy them often, and it is expected that the majority of those who come in just at present will be in to recruit their stocks again in two or three weeks. The dealers from Iowa, Minnesota, and the Western Territories have not begun to come in yet, though the warm weather will start them also in a few days. It seems almost incredible that the weather should have so great an effect on sales of goods which it is known will be wanted soon anyhow. But the past winter has been one of much doubtfulness in regard to trade generally, and it is probable that country merchants have deferred their spring purchases until the very last moment. The jobbers in this city are, however, in excellent spirits now.

—The volume of business in the dry goods trade in New York City last week is represented by the Economist and Dry Goods Reporter to have been of a very unsatisfactory character. This is attributed largely to the unfavorableness of the weather, though this does not altogether account for the small volume of purchases of goods, and the Economist acknowledges that no point in the whole country has felt the stagnation of trade in a greater degree than New York. Our own explanation of this condition of things in New York is that a great deal of the dry goods business of that city with the West has been diverted to Chicago. There are, however, also some other reasons. The iron industrial interests of Pennsylvania are much depressed, and the people are not able to buy so many goods. The South also is comparatively poor yet, and is not buying largely.

—Says the New York Post: The withdrawal of the clique from the gold market, whether temporary or otherwise, has left the foreign exchange market subject only to natural influences, and the leading drawers have found the demand (which itself has been increased by the decline in the price of gold) so strong that they have advanced their rates for bills on London to 4.84 and 4.88 respectively; business is up to 4.83¾ and 4.87½. There has also been a corresponding advance in commercial bills, and exporters, with exchange up and gold down, realize about the same as a few days ago, when gold was up and exchange down. There is a free export demand for leading domestic products which will first benefit western trade and later our own trade. With the gold and exchange markets free and clear, the last obstacle in the way of a good business is removed.

—The Bank of England directors held their regular weekly meeting this morning, but made no change in the minimum discount rate (3½ per cent.) The Bank lost £82,000 bullion during the week closing with yesterday's business, and to-day £77,000 was withdrawn on balance; the percentage of reserve to liabilities has fallen from 38¼ to 34½.

—The suspension of Mr. T. W. Henley, a contractor, with liabilities of £500,000, occurred yesterday in London; but it seems to have caused no disturbance. The Bank of France lost 1,919,000 francs during the week.

NEW YORK, April 2, 1875.

Money was easy, call loans closing at 2½; prime mercantile paper 5½@7. Sterling was strong at 484½ for sixty days and 488½ for sight. The imports of dry goods for the week were $3,403,426. The customs receipts were $648,000. Gold opened at 114⅝ and closed at 114⅝, with sales in the interim at 114 and 114½. The carrying rates were 1, 2 and 3 per cent. Loans were also made flat. The Assistant Treasurer disbursed $41,000. The clearings were $67,000,000. Government and railroad bonds were firm. State bonds were quiet, except Virginia consols, which are higher.

Stocks have been moderately active and strong, with Union Pacific, Northwest, Pacific Mail, Lake Shore, Wabash, Rock Island, St. Paul and Ohios as features. During the last hour the market was very strong and prices advanced to the highest point of the day. Union Pacific reached 68¼, the highest price ever reached. Lake Shore rose to 74, Northwest to 45⅝, Rock Island to 106¾, St. Paul to 38⅝, Ohios to 29⅝, and Wabash to 15 3-4. The transactions aggregated 195,000 shares, of which 29,000 were Pacific Mail, 22,000 Western Union, 14,000 Northwest, 6,500 St. Paul, 42,000 Erie, 10,000 Ohios, 5,500 Rock Island, 6,000 Wabash, and 50,000 Union Pacific. The gross earnings of the Union Pacific Railroad Company for March, 1874, were $651,475, and for the same month in 1875 $823,509—an increase of $172,034. The increase in gross earnings for March this year is equal to a gain of nearly 30 per cent. over last year.

Condition of the Markets at Home and Abroad.

DAILY REPORT OF PITTSBURGH MARKETS.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE,
FRIDAY, April 2, 1875.

Out-door business was restricted somewhat to-day by the inclemency of the weather, and the leading markets were devoid of any features deserving of special notice. We are glad to notice that some of our exchanges are very hopeful in regard to the future, and it is evident that business is considerably better elsewhere than it is here, which may be attributed in a large degree to the iron lock-out. The Boston Globe says: If there is one thing as much as another calculated to show the actual condition of business in the country, it is the earning of the leading railroads. The net earnings of the roads, so far as showing a reduction from the effects of dullness, exhibit an increase of twelve per cent as compared with the last exhibit. The exhibit of gross earnings affords a satisfactory symptom of the general trade of the country. Considering that the rates of transportation have been exceptionally low, the fact of an increase shows that, after all the complaints of the depression of trade, there has been no general reduction in the traffic and travel of the country, and that, whatever may have been the condition of some branches of business, upon the whole, the wheels of industry have been kept well in motion.

APPLES—Continue very dull and prices are barely maintained; $1,50@2,50 per bbl, as to quality and condition.

APPLE BUTTER—50@55c ℔ gal.

BUCKWHEAT FLOUR—2¾@3c ℔ ℔.

BEANS—There is a fair demand, but the supply is ample and prices remain unchanged; mediums, $1,90@2; navies, $2@2.10.

BUTTER—There is considerable inquiry for choice table Butter, and it is in light supply, but the lower grades continue very dull with the market largely overstocked. Prime to choice rolls quotable at 25@28c.

CRANBERRIES—$10@12 ℔ bbl.

CHEESE—The general tone of the market is somewhat firmer under the influence of the advices from New York, but the demand here is only fair and prices remain unchanged; prime Ohio Goshen, 16½ to 17 cts New York do., 17 to 17½.

DRIED FRUIT—Quiet and unchanged: Apples, 7½@8½; Peaches at 8½@9½, as to quality.

EGGS—The supply in hands of commission merchants continues light, but the peddlers are now able to supply many of the storekeepers, hence prices are not quotably higher; generally quoted at 25, although some dealers report that they think they could do rather better if they had any stock.

FLOUR—We continue to quote in a jobbing way as follows: Spring wheat flours, $5,40@5,50 for Wisconsins, and $5,75@6 for Minnesotas; winters, $5,65@5,85 for red and $6@6,25 for amber and white. Rye Flour, $5,65@6.

GROCERIES—There is only a moderate degree of activity in the grocery trade; it is not what it should be or usually is at this season of the year; city retailers continue to buy very sparingly, and while country orders have been coming in more freely, they are mostly small. Coffee continues firm; our latest advices from the seaboard report considerable activity, sales in first hands at New York yesterday of 18,000 bags, and that, too, at an advance of half a cent, gold. We understand that some of our roasters have put prices up one cent, and we presume it will be general in a day or two. Sugars, both raw and refined, continue very firm, and a further appreciation in the latter is not improbable. New Orleans Molasses strong at quotations, and the same is true of Syrups.

GRAIN—There is a firmer feeling as regards Wheat, but there appears to be but little inquiry for it in this market; it would be difficult as yet to obtain any advance, and at the same time we do not believe that it can be laid down here from any point at the rates current for some time past. The Oat market is firm with an upward tendency, but quiet; quotable at 64@65 for mixed and 66@67c for white. Shelled Corn is firm and in light supply, we are cognizant of a sale of 5 cars of yellow, free, at 77c: quotable at 73@75 for white and mixed, and 77@78c for yellow. Ear Corn is steady at 74@75 for mixed and 77@78c for prime yellow. Rye unchanged at $1,10@1,12.

HAY—There is no improvement in the market for baled, and with a supply considerably in excess of present requirements and increasing, prices are weak but unchanged; prairie, $16@18; timothy, $20@22, according to quality. Loose, from country wagons, $25@30.

HOMINY—$4,25@4,50 ℔ bbl.

ONIONS—$3@4 ℔ bbl.

POTATOES—Continue in light supply, and the market is firmer, with a very fair demand; selling, in a jobbing way, at $1,15@1,20 for Peach Blows.

PROVISIONS—The market continues strong, and we have again advanced our quotations on Mess Pork and Lard. A Chicago exchange, of Thursday, says:—The activity in mess pork and lard continues, and prices have steadily advanced. The aggregate sales during the past twenty-four hours amount to forty-one thousand barrels of pork and twenty-seven thousand five hundred tierces of lard—about one-third of the stock of the former and more than one-half the stock of the latter.

PITTSBURGH IRON MARKET—WEEKLY REVIEW.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE,
FRIDAY, April 2, 1875.

PIG IRON.

The general position of the pig iron market, so far at least as Pittsburgh is concerned, has not varied much for several weeks; trade continues almost suspended, and no improvement can reasonably be looked for as long as the lock-out exists. The air has been full of rumors recently; one day the mills have succumbed and the puddlers are to resume work at $6; while perhaps, the very day following, it is the other way, the puddlers have concluded to accept the situation and resume work at the rate offered by the manufacturers, $4½. So far as the lock-out is concerned, the future is very uncertain; it may be ended inside of ten days, and it may continue until fall; manufacturers generally are emphatic in asserting that they will not start up until the puddlers are willing to go in at $4½, or the price of manufactured iron appreciates sufficiently to enable them to pay the rate demanded by the former, and until the puddling furnaces are started up, there will be little or no movement in pig iron. Prices, however, are nominally unchanged; No. 1 Foundry, $27@28; No. 2, $25@26; Gray Forge, $23@24; White and Mottled, $20@22.

MANUFACTURED IRON.

Trade in finished irons continues very much depressed, and the majority of the mills are doing next to nothing, some of them, especially those who have specialities, still manage to pick up enough muck bar and scrap to enable them to meet the immediate wants of regular buyers, but the merchant bar mills generally are out of stock, have no assortment, and consequently, are unable to do anything. The general tone of the market is reported rather firmer, in consequence of the decreased production, not only here but at Cleveland and elsewhere, but prices are nominally unchanged. In the east the mills are reported as doing a very fair business, and the mills at Cincinnati, Ashland and Trenton are in operation, and these points are getting a great many orders that would have been placed here but for the lock-out.

NAILS.

There is no movement in Nails here, and there are no Nails to move; so far as we can learn, there is not a single one of the factories in operation, and the stock has not been so much reduced in this market for many years. The best evidence of this is that the retail trade have been obliged to order from other places, and it is said that some of our manufacturers have purchased from competing points to ship on accumulated orders. Three dollars was the ruling price, but what the rate would be in case the factories were started up again, we are unable to state. It is said that Wheeling is anxious to put up prices.

SCRAP IRON.

The demand has fallen off and the market is weaker in consequence: one of our leading firms report that they made a sale of No 1 wrought recently at 1¾, delivered, against 1.85@1.90 some weeks ago. Furthermore, we are informed that what little demand there is, is for small lots to supply immediate wants.

PITTSBURGH PETROLEUM MARKET.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE,
FRIDAY, April 2, 1875.

The market here continues quiet and devoid of any new or important features. Crude quoted at $1,80 at Parker for immediate shipment, and $1 95 in bulk barges, delivered here. The most of the oil coming by river is owned by refiners, having bought by them at Parker and freighted down by other parties, hence there is not as much barge oil offering as would naturally be expected. Refined continues quiet and unchanged; 12¾@12¼ on cars here to go to Baltimore, and 14½@14⅝c delivered either in Baltimore or Philadelphia.

Further mail advices from the North German ports continue to present a highly favorable statistical position. As will be found below the stocks are considerably less than at the same time last year, while the demand for the interior has increased very materially. The figures given are from the circular of Messrs. Kunth, Schueken & Kunth, Bremen, and are official.

The following were the quantities of refined oil in store, at the ports named, March 13:

	1875.	1874.
Bremen.........bbls.	141,274	186,677
Antwerp	101,975	162,846
Hamburg	7,090	53,717
Rotterdam	7,585	61,907
Stettin	4,740	6,356
Total.........bbls.	272,664	471,503

The following were the quantities afloat March 13th, at the points in question: 1875, 94,166 bbls; 1874, 62,715 bbls. The following were the quantities loading in America, March 13th: 1875, 141,500 bbls, against 128,200 bbls in 1874. The total stocks, in, and afloat and loading, for the above named ports, March 13th, 1875, were 498,730 bbls refined against 662,418 barrels at the same time last year of a falling off March 13th, this year, of about 175,600 bbls.

The total receipts at the same ports from Jan. 1st, 1875, to March 13th, were 239,122 bbls, against 322,-953 bbls during the same period last year.

The quantities taken for consumption for the week ending March 13th, and since January 1st were:

	W'k end Mh. 13 1875.	W'k end Mh. 13 1874.	Ja. 1 to Mh. 13 1875.	Ja. 1 to Mh. 13 1874.
From Bremen, bbls.	12,876	7,187	173,970	116,475
From Antwerp	9,539	7,540	125,297	106,034
From Hamburg	2,063	2,287	35,429	23,563
From Rotterdam	5,501	1,693	57,768	20,502
From Stettin	1,593	1,093	24,153	17,643
Total.......bbls.	31,583	19,791	416,617	284,217

The above shows an increase of about 12,000 bbls in the quantities taken for consumption during the week ending March 13th, as compared with the same week in 1874, and an increase in the total quantities taken of 132,000 bbls in favor of this year.

The Barrel trade continues quiet and unchanged; countries, $1.20; city make, $1.30@$1.35.

J. KABERNAGLE,
Sergeant, Signal Service, U. S. A.

The stage of water last evening was 14½ feet and rising; indications favorable for a big river, as both the Allegheny and Monongahela continue to rise at headwaters.

THERE was 12½ feet of water reported at Parker yesterday afternoon.

WE learn from St. Louis that Capt. James Clark has taken command of the C. W. Mead.

THE Rover and barges are announced for St. Louis and the Upper Mississippi forthwith.

CAPT. JOHN L. RHOADS, who has been under the weather for some days, is reported better.

THE Mallie Ragon, from Wheeling, arrived and departed, and the Granite State, for Portsmouth, departed.

THE Exchange will load for Cincinnati after the Juniata, and the Wild Duck will follow the Rover for St. Louis.

THE new towboat Monitor has arrived from Wheeling, having been towed up, and her engines are being put on by James Rees.

THE towboats Diamond, Baltic, Bengal Tiger, Fred Wilson, Samson No. 2, Dexter and Hornet No. 2 arrived at Cincinnati yesterday.

THE R. W. Skillinger will take her departure on Tuesday for Ironton and all intermediate points, and she will receipt through to Cincinnati and Louisville.

THE Alice Brown, of the Brown Line, arrived at St. Louis on Wednesday, with three model barges, containing 79,000 bushels of coal for the St. Louis Gas-works.

THE Enterprise and the Dick Fulton indulged in a little collision at Gallipolis, and the result was the Enterprise clipped a small portion of the faintail of the Dick Fulton.

THE Mollie Ebert is due here from Cincinnati within the next day or two; as will be seen by card, Capt. Batchelor proposes to load for St. Louis and the Upper Mississippi.

CAPT. LEVI CHAPMAN, formerly commander of the Arkansas river side-wheel-steamer Thirty-fifth Parallel, is now a farmer near Van Buren, Ark., and enjoys good health.

A CAIRO dispatch, under date of Wednesday, says:—The towboat Leopard is lying below here at Salina Island, with her doctor broken. She had to take it to Cairo for repairs.

THE Utah, Captain Voorhees, will positively take her departure for St. Louis and the Upper Mississippi to-day, and passengers and shippers should bear this in mind. She is an A1 boat, and offers superior inducements to passengers.

CAPT. JAMES W. GOSLEE was run over and killed by a train of the Louisville and Nashville road, near Louisville, yesterday. He was the founder of the old Memphis and New Orleans Packet Company, and commanded numerous steamers.

THE steamer Hugh Martin is high and dry ten miles below London, on the Upper Tennessee river. About forty flatboats, each carrying from fifteen hundred to two thousand bushels of corn and wheat, are loading and floating to market from the Upper Tennessee.

THE fine side-wheeler Juniata will take her departure for Cincinnati to-day positively. The Juniata is a fixture in the trade, having remained in it ever since she came out, and she will no doubt stay there as long as she is owned and commanded by Capt. Brennan.

THE Fanny Tatum lay at Van Buren seven weeks awaiting water, and then went out of Arkansas on eight inches of a rise, with 475 bales cotton for the South. She went from Memphis to St. Louis light to lay up. There is very little cotton in Arkansas to come out.

THE Helena (Montana) Herald of March 19th says: A few miles above Fort Benton the Missouri river is rapidly breaking up. Everything indicates an early breaking up of the river. It is more than probable that before the 1st of May the first boat of the season will be seen steaming around the bend.

THE steamers now plying in Arkansas river are at present piloted as follows: Matt. Dow's on the Belle of Texas, Dave Chapman on the Maumelle, Moses McKee on the Clarksville, Elisha Evans and Henry Daniels on the Legal Tender, Eugene Smith and Henry McNutt on the Gibson, and Theo. Griffin on the Ella Hughes.

THE following items are from the St. Louis Democrat of Thursday:—Nick Beusen, clerk of the Key West, will leave this evening for the Upper Missouri....Josephus Todd, of the Josephine, which the Mead is going to "flax," left on Monday ....The Katie P. Kountz is being placed in perfect order for a trip to Benton. David Haney, a champion captain of the Missouri, will take her there.

THE new steamer Benton will positively take her departure to-day. This boat has been examined by a great many boatmen, and they all pronounce her to be one of the best boats, in all respects, ever built here or elsewhere for the Upper Missouri trade. She goes clear through to Fort Benton, and will leave here with a large amount of freight for that and other points on the big muddy. Captain James McGarry is in command, and Messrs. Hill and Ghriest are associated together in the office.

THE Experimental Steam Boiler Commission which recently met in New York, having assigned the testing of safety-valves to a special board, of which the Supervising Inspector General of Steamboats was designated as the chairman, the Secretary of the Treasury has appointed Addison Low, Supervising Inspector at New York, and William Rogers, Supervising Inspector at New Orleans, as members of the Special Board. The Experimental Commission have turned over to the Special Board about twenty working safety valves which had been presented to the Commission for use in their tests of boilers. It is proposed to invite inventors of this important and essential adjunct to a steam boiler to send working models to be used in the proposed experiments. In order to give ample time for those having inventions to send them to the Board, it is proposed not to inaugurate the experiment until June or July. The place now determined upon for the experimental tests is the Washington Navy-yard. A representation of engineers of the navy and of civil life will be invited to be present and witness the experiments.

Boy Drowned.

Last evening about six o'clock a boy named Charles Stewart, aged about twelve years, and whose parents reside in the Thirteenth ward, was engaged in playing on a board in a pond of water near the house, which was several feet in depth, when his foot slipped and he fell into the water and was drowned. He was taken out a few minutes afterwards, but not until life was extinct. The coroner was notified.

Fire at Glendale.

At an early hour yesterday morning a two story frame dwelling house at Glendale, about six miles below Allegheny City, was discovered to be on fire. The inmates all escaped, but had to leave so hastily that they succeeded in saving very little of their goods. The house was entirely destroyed. The flames communicated to an adjourning house, owned and occupied by Mr. T. M. Sholes, but the flames were extinguished before the house was very badly damaged.

SUDDEN DEATH.

The Result of Embolism of the Brain.

On Thursday night about eight o'clock Mr. Robert A. Lambie, of West Deer township was reading a newspaper when he got up from his chair and started to walk across the room. He had only taken two or three steps when he fell to the floor and died soon after. Upon examination it was ascertained that he came to his death from embolism of the brain, which was produced by falling from a wagon last summer. The Coronor was notified and held an inquest yesterday, when a verdict was rendered in accordance with the facts above stated. Deceased was a single man and was about thirty years of age.

BLASTED AFFECTIONS.

Alleged Breach of Promise.

In the Common Pleas Court No. 2 yesterday an action was begun by Rachel Alberts against Herman Kohal for alleged breach of promise in failing to marry her according to the agreement. The plaintiff represents the defendant in June last contracted to marry her between Christmas and New Years day, and that he broke the contract; that in January last he again contracted to marry, the ceremony to take place in May, but that on the 4th of March he notified her that he wouldn't be on hand. The defendant went to the expense of procuring a bridal outfit, and has sustained great loss and injury, somewhere in the neighborhood of $10,000, as estimated in money. Both parties reside in Allegheny city, and the plaintiff is about twenty-two years of age. A capias was issued.

THAT WALTER MANDAMUS.

The Court Grants a Peremptory Mandamus on Mayor McCarthy.

In the case of the Commonwealth ex rel Jacob H. Walter vs. William C. McCarthy, which was argued before Judges Kirkpatrick and White, on Thursday, the Court granted a peremptory mandamus yesterday, compelling the respondent to sign the warrant issued in favor of the relator for the work done on the reservoir in February.

Judge Kirkpatrick stated that both he and Judge White had examined carefully the authorities cited by the counsel for the Mayor, but that they had failed to satisfy them of the tenability of the position assumed by the respondent. The Court was clear that the duties of the Mayor in the premises were purely ministerial, and that when the estimates had passed the proper committee, and the Controller had certified their correctness, the Mayor had nothing to do but to sign the warrant for their payment when presented to him. The Judge stated further that in regard to the inadequacy of the complainant's remedy at law, the Court was clear that the case was with the complainant.

A RUNAWAY.

A Man Makes a Narrow Escape.

Yesterday afternoon about half past two o'clock Mr. William Jordan made a narrow escape from a terrible death. It appears that a team which was attached to a Penn street car became frightened when near Eleventh street and started to run off, breaking the tongue from the car to which they were attached. In the attempt of Mr. Jordan to check the team he ran to the heads of the horses and was caught on the end of the tongue and was carried by the fiery steeds for a distance of about two squares, his head and body striking the ground at different times, producing very painful wounds. After having run the distance named the unfortunate man was released, but the horses still kept on down the avenue, and when near another street car they fell, frightening a second team, which made an attempt to get away from their driver. Mr. Jordan was picked up and taken to his residence on Ross street, almost opposite the jail, and Dr. McCabe summoned, who attended him. He found a number of serious cuts about his head and bruises upon his body. The doctor attended his injuries, and though they are very severe, he thinks they will not be attended with fatal results.

TAXATION IN VERONA.

The People Opposed to any Debt.

The citizens of Verona borough held a meeting on Thursday evening to consider the proposed issue of bonds for improvements, under ordinances passed by Councils. The meeting was organized by electing Mr. W. Watson, President; J. McD. Crossan and J. W. Paul Vice Presidents, and A. T. Rowand and W. W. Grier, Secretaries.

After the matter had been discussed, a preamble and resolution was passed unanimously, setting forth "that it is deemed unwise and not advisable at this time to make any new debt or increase the liabilities of the borough, and that the proposed increase of twenty-five thousand dollars is uncalled for, and not for the well-fare of the citizens; and also believing that the proposed increase is illegal and entirely wrong, the Burgess and Council are respectfully requested to desist from inflicting, even if they have the legal power, any additional burthens upon us, and we most earnestly ask them to repeal all ordinances heretofore passed, authorizing such increase of debt or liabilities."

A committee was appointed to notify Councils of this action.

On motion it was resolved that as the meeting was called to consider the propriety of issuing bonds, and to urge Councils not to increase its indebtedness, therefore it is not to be understood as being called for the purpose of censuring Councils, but as an expression of the feeling of the citizens on the subject.

The meeting then adjourned.

MASS MEETING AT WILKINSBURG.

The School Question Thoroughly Discussed—An Appeal to be Made to the Supreme Court

A meeting was held by the citizens of Wilkinsburg on Thursday night, in the public school house, for the purpose of taking some action in regard to the school question, which is now interesting the citizens of that locality. It will be remembered that a few days ago a decision was rendered by Judge Kirkpatrick, upon the annexation of the Thirty-seventh ward which was declared illegal and it was thrown out. This, as a matter of course, entirely disarranged the present school system, and as there are about four hundred scholars in that ward who have been under instruction, the parents of these children were unwilling that the school should be discontinued until next September, as it would be, unless proper action should be taken to prevent such a state of affairs. The matter was thoroughly discussed, and the citizens decided to carry the case of their separation from the city to the Supreme Court, and a subscription was taken up to raise money to defray the expenses, which resulted in a contribution of over two hundred dollars. Besides taking this action a committee was appointed to employ counsel to prosecute to a conclusion the application now pending in the Court of Quarter Sessions for an Independent school district. The meeting was almost a unit in its action upon the points named, and seems to be somewhat aroused in regard to the question of the education of the children.

ONE THOUSAND DOLLARS.

A Curious Story About an Old Warrant.

A rather interesting matter was brought up yesterday afternoon at the meeting of the Board of Guardians of the Poor. Just before adjournment Mr. Kincaid said he desired to make a statement in regard to a warrant for $1,000 which is claimed by Mr. George Fortune. The warrant was drawn on the 29th of January, 1858, in favor of Allan Cordell, Treasurer of the Board of Health. It is directed to George Arthurs, then Treasurer of the Board of Guardians, and was in payment of a like amount borrowed by the Poor Board in June 1857, from the Health Board. The warrant is still in the original book, has never been detached and never paid. Mr. Fortune claims it because he says it was given to him by Mr. Cordell in payment for his services as Secretary of the Board of Health, which position he then filled in addition to the one occupied by him as Secretary to the Guardians. The warant, however, has never been endorsed by Mr. Cordell, who is now dead, to Mr. Fortune, and the account of the Poor Board, with its then Treasurer, Mr. Arthurs, who is also dead, has long since been settled. It was generally conceded by the members of the Board that it has a thousand dollars which does not belong to it, but whether it should be paid to the Board of Health or to Mr. Fortune is the question that is to be determined, and in order to have it investigated it was referred to a sub-committee. Mr. Fortune says the reason he never drew the money on the warrant was because when he had ready cash he generally managed to get rid of it and that he allowed the warrant to remain unpaid for the reason that he might need the sum it called for, for some special purpose.

To neglect the functions of that sphere in which an all-wise Providence has placed her, the Catholic woman knows to be a crime; to discharge the offices of that sphere she knows to be a virtue as necessary for the preservation of the moral order, as the discharge of the co-relative duties imposed on man.—Pittsburgh Catholic.

SIXTY-SIX persons united with the Presbyterian Church, East Liberty, Rev. Gillespie, pastor, Sunday, on profession of faith and twelve on certificates, making seventy-eight in all. This is the largest addition to the membership at one time that has ever taken place in the Church, and is the immediate result of the late revival in the East end.

THE members of the Fifth avenue M. E. church called to bid their former pastor, Rev. J. Grant, farewell the other night—as he moves to a new station—and left for Mrs. Grant a purse and other valuable presents, as a testimonial of their regard for her and the interest she had taken in the Woman's Foreign Missionary Society of the church.

THE claims of our [church] schools are often based upon the social, political and business demands to be met by the rising generation, but when reduced to their last analysis, there is but one claim that can be brought to have power with the churches, and that is the need of education as a means of gospel propogation.—Baptist Witness.

IT is about time the American people should see that the struggle in which Bismarck is engaged in Germany, and Gladstone in England, is one in which we are deeply concerned—more so perhaps than even the people of those countries. For just in proportion as Rome is loosing its hold in Europe, it is tightening its grasp upon the United States.—Presbyterian Banner.

ONLY a few even in the congregations that are burdened, know how much of worry there is in a debt. The pastor feels it; the trustees appreciate it; and a dozen are more or less burdened under it; but the majority know nothing about it, except the statistics and the general fact of its evil influence. And of these, since they know nothing more, they care but little. Outside of the church nobody knows or cares to give a word of sympathy.—United Presbyterian.

A QUIET smile gradually stole over the faces of one and another, in Dr. Locke's congregation in Alliance, last Sunday morning, as they took in the appositeness of the text, (2 Cor. 13 : 1,) "This is the third time I am coming to you." He came this third time, like Paul, with great plainness and earnestness of speech, and wholesome practical teaching that ought to do good.—Exchange. The gentleman was formerly pastor of the Liberty street M. E. church, this city.

IT is proposed by the Baptists of the State to celebrate the Centennial of our nation by an offering to the cause of Christian education. The work is already inaugurated by the appointment of Rev. E. W. Bliss, of Pittsburgh, Secretary and Superintendent by the trustees of the University at Lewisburg. He will enter upon his duties early in April, with Philadelphia as his headquarters. Rev. A. IN accordance with the action of the Alumni Association of the Western Theological Seminary, the next Triennial Reunion of the Alumni will take place at the close of the present term. On Wednesday evening, April 21st, an address of welcome on behalf of the Faculty, will be delivered by Rev. D. W. Fisher, D. D., of Wheeling, W. Va., to be followed by the Alumni address, by Rev. B. L. Agnew, D. D., of Philadelphia, Pa. Thursday A. M., the 22d, opportunity will be afforded for classes to hold meeting. The regular meeting of the Alumni Association will be held at 12 o'clock, and a collation will be served at 2 P. M. The Alumni and former students of the Seminary are cordially invited to be present.

Talent, Time and Energy.

When a man devotes this trio of words to his business, he must produce articles of entire acceptance to the consumer. Wm. Martin, of No. 108 Federal street, Allegheny, gives as much attention to the manufacture of a pair of boots or shoes as if he was constructing of much greater worth and magnitude, which fully accounts for the extreme excellence of his work in regard to service and durability. Whoever heard of Martin's boots or shoes not giving satisfaction to the wearer? Boots and shoes for all kinds of work and wear at fair prices.

New Designs.

Messrs. J. L. Lytle & Co., 169 Smithfield street, are offering some very handsome suits of Parlor, Chamber and Dining-room Furniture, at lower prices than ever before.

SURVEY COMMITTEE.

The Survey Committee held a regular meeting yesterday afternoon, Capt. Aull in the chair.

An ordinance was ordered for the location of Spruce street, Thirty-second ward.

The following petitions were referred to a sub-committee for examination: Petition for the repeal of an ordinance re-locating Fifty-fourth street; for change of grade of Lang avenue and change of the location of Forbes street, twenty-five feet north from present location, between Shady lane and Dallas avenue.

Mr. Siebert, from the sub-committee on plan of streets in the Eighteenth ward, reported progress.

Mr. Boucher reported that Fairmont street is unnecessary and moved that an ordinance be prepared, repealing the ordinance locating said street in the Thirty-second ward. Carried.

The pay roll for March, amounting to $608.28, was approved.

The Chair appointed Messrs. Breed, Shaltenbrand and O'Neill as a sub-committee on change of grade of Brady street.

Mr. Aull stated that by the change of grade made on Liberty avenue the latter street has been elevated some feet above the intersection of Thirty-fourth and Denny streets and he submitted a plan prepared by the Engineer. A resolution referred to the committee by Select Council for a change of location of Thirty-second street was indefinitely postponed and an ordinance was ordered establishing a grade for Thirty-fourth and Denny streets.

An ordinance was also ordered changing the grade of Lake street, Twenty-first ward, to conform with the grade of Lincoln avenue.

Mr. Shaltenbrand, from the sub-committee on Devlin's plan of streets in the Sixteenth ward, reported in favor of the old location of streets. The plan was adopted as originally made.

After passing resolutions for the exoneration of small amounts of taxes for poor people, the committee adjourned.

THE TEACHERS' INSTITUTE.

Yesterday's Proceedings—State Superintendent Wickersham Settles a Dispute—Resolutions Adopted.

The Teachers Institute concluded its session last night. In the morning Miss Effie McCall read an essay on the "Promotion of Happiness in Society," and Rev. Keane finished his lecture on "Egypt and the Wilderness of the Red Sea." During the forenoon sitting State Superintendent Wickersham was present, and he was called upon to give his decision upon a matter which had been the source of considerable ill feeling among some of the members of the Institute. All the teachers were required to enroll their names, and in order to raise money with which to defray the expenses of the Institute the gentlemen were requested to pay an initiation fee of one dollar and the ladies fifty cents. Some refused to do so, and the result of it was that when the election of a Committee on Permanent Certificates was held those who had declined to pay the amounts assessed were denied the privilege of voting. When Dr. Wickersham was asked whether the denial was right or wrong he replied that only members of the Insitute are entitled to vote, and that the law requires all members to be registered and the roll called twice a day. He noticed that for some reason the calling of the roll had been omitted. The law says nothing about the initiation fee but Mr. Wickersham thought the Institute could arrange that matter to suit itself, and he thought the election had been held strictly in accordance with the law.

The Committee on Resolutions submitted the following which were adopted:

Resolved, That the enactment of a law requiring the adoption of a uniform series of text books throughout the State would be detrimental to the best interests of our schools.

Resolved, That full time should be given to teachers in the respective districts who desire to attend the County Institute.

Resolved, That the time for holding the County Institute be changed to the first week of November.

Resolved, That a system of oral instruction embracing, as far as possible, the elements of natural science should be introduced in every school.

Resolved, That our thanks are hereby tendered to the representatives of the press for the publication of reports of our proceedings; to the various musicians who, by their exquisite music, added so much to the enjoyment of the sessions; to Dr. Wickersham, Prof. Curry and Prof. Fradenburg and others for their interesting and instructive lectures; to Rev. J. B. Bittinger, D. D., and Rev. Dr. Noble, for the able and impartial manner in which they conducted the spelling.

Resolved, That we tender our congratulations to Prof. A. T. Douthett upon the successful administration of the arduous and responsible duties of his office during the past fifteen years.

At last night's session Rev. F. A. Noble submitted his report concerning the teachers' spelling contest. It will be found in another column. We stated yesterday morning that Miss Lizzie Barton, who won the prize in the pupils' match, was a pupil in the Fifth ward schools, Pittsburgh. That was a mistake. She is a scholar in the Fifth ward school, Allegheny.

Honesty Must Win.

The man who manufactures wares and goods merely for the sake of pecuniary gain without regard to the principles of honesty may succeed well in business for a time, but be sure his sin must sooner or later find him out. Mr. Thomas Davage, of No. 57 First avenue, has, during a business of over forty years, adhered with scrupulous exactness to the old maxim in the construction of all his manufactures, so that to-day whatever bears his stamp is regarded as the perfection of all excellence. In the manufacture of blocks and pumps he has no superior. His inside iron-strapped block is the most convenient and durable in use. Blocks and pumps and everything else in his line made promptly to order, and of the best material.

Books of the season in endless variety. Books and periodicals of fashion, art, science, literature, amusement, and books of games as well as a full assortment of books for the little folks. All the Eastern dailies and monthlies constantly on hand, No. 69 Fifth avenue.

THE TEACHERS' SPELL.

Miss Emma Stratton, of the Thirteenth Ward, the Victor—The Result Announced Last Night—The Match at Brown's Chapel—The Second Inter-Municipal Contest.

Last evening, at the final session of the Teachers' Institute, Rev. F. A. Noble submitted his report regarding the teachers' spelling match held a few days ago and stated who won the prize. Before announcing the result he made a very entertaining preliminary speech in which he told of the peculiarities connected with some of the manuscripts he had examined and of their signification. He was sorry he had not more than one prize to present because he was convinced that some who were not fortunate enough to win the one offered, deserved some recognition of their ability. Quite a number of the manuscripts displayed careful thought and hard study, and manifested not only familiarity with the orthography but commendable knowledge of the etymology of words. After further remarks he announced that No. 12 had won the prize, but who the lucky person was he did not know. Turning to his book, Professor Morrow found that No. 12 was Miss Emma Stratton, of the Thirteenth ward, Pittsburgh. Of the two hundred words given out she missed twenty-five. The next best speller was No. 13, Prof. W. R. Ford, of the Second ward, Pittsburgh. He missed twenty-eight words. Mr. Noble called for Miss Stratton to come forward and receive her dictionary, but she was not present.

Dr. Bittinger, the judge in the pupils' contest, not being present either, Rev. Noble was pressed into service to present Miss Lizzie Barton, of the Allegheny Fifth ward school, with the prize she had won. In doing so Mr. Noble made a charming speech, saying to the little lady who with modest mein stood before him, that in studying the dictionary he trusted she would find in it all the good words, the kind, the best and the loving words, and not to forget those little but very important words, "yes" and "no." Prof. Conroy received the dictionary in behalf of Miss Barton, saying that it afforded him greater pleasure to do so because she is a pupil in the school under his care.

THE INTER-MUNICIPAL MATCH.

The committee appointed to make arrangements for another spelling match between representatives from Pittsburgh and Allegheny city have decided that the contest shall take place on Thursday evening next, the place to be made known through the columns of the daily newspapers. The admission fee has been fixed at 25 cents, the entire proceeds to go to the Ladies' Relief Societies of both cities. The prizes to be awarded are three in number. The first to go to the victor, the second to the lady or gentleman standing the longest on the defeated side, and the third to the gentleman who goes down first. The above was decided upon at a meeting of the committee held yesterday afternoon. Hon. Felix R. Brunot, has been chosen President Judge, and Hon. John M. Kirkpatrick and Prof. Geo. N. Monroe, Associate Judges, the former in behalf of Allegheny, and the latter for Pittsburgh. The completion of arrangements has been confided to a number of sub-committees.

THE COLORED FOLK'S SPELLING CONTEST.

A large assembly of colored people gathered last evening in Brown's Chapel, Allegheny, for the purpose of having a spelling match. A considerable number of white persons were in attendance, and gave encouragement to the affair. While these spelling entertainments have become so popular it would be strange if the colored population did not fall in with the rage for them, and we are certainly willing to see them engaged in any kind of intellectual improvement—not the least of which is spelling. So we say to them, spell on.

After the house was called to order by Professor Neale, and some preliminary remarks made, Thomas Moore and Lucy Monroe were proposed for Captains. A number was then written on a slip of paper which the Captains were asked to guess. Mr. Moore guessed fifteen, Miss Monroe eighteen. The number being fourteen, and the first named having guessed nearest to it, he was therefore entitled to the first choice. Fourteen spellers were chosen on each side. Professor Neale served as pronouncer, G. D. Hunt as referee and G. H. Shorter as scorer. The spellers were then arranged in order, and the contest commenced. The scorer was instructed when a word was missed on one side and corrected on the other to score one to the credit of that side; and if the word was corrected on the side where first missed it was to be considered redeemed, and hence, not marked. After spelling about half an hour in this manner, the report was announced. Capt. Moore had five scored to his side and the other side four, so evenly were they matched.

After this there was another "spell," in which each one lost her place on missing a word. Captainess Monroe was the first to fall. Then two or three suffered "Martyrdom;" one was frozen by an "icicle." "saccharine" was too sweet for several; "schirtous" too hard for one, "sesquipedalian" tripped so many that when one of the spellers got it right he was loudly cheered, and the referee patted him on the shoulder. Then a dose of "cinchona" reduced the ranks to two—both on Miss Monroe's side. "ptarimigan" was a fowl of too wild a character to be caught by either of these. Joseph Wilson and Thompson Smith appeared as if they could not catch this bird. A challenge was then given to any one in the audience to try. Miss Fanny Morgan, the second to respond, accomplished the feat, although she had retired on a mistake in the early part of the contest.

The spellers and all assembled were then invited to the basement where refreshments were served, and conviviality indulged to a late hour. All present enjoyed it much.

THE "HIBERNIANS."

The Annual Conventions — Officers Elected.

Yesterday afternoon the annual convention of the Ancient Order of Hibernians was held at Turner Hall. There were representatives present from twenty-four counties, representing, it is said, a membership of thirty-two thousand. The reports from the various sections represented the order flourishing. An election for officers was held, which resulted as follows: State Delegate, John Gallagher; State Secretary, J. J. McGuire; State Treasurer, James McGovern.

In the evening the County Convention was held, and officers elected for the order here, resulting as follows: County Delegate, James Moran; County Secretary, Silas Daly; County Treasurer, Patrick McGee.

The National Convention of the order has just closed its session in New York. There are said to be over four hundred thousand persons connected with the order in the Union.

Signs of Disease.

Many of the chronic diseases of to-day might have been arrested in their incipient stages, and speedy cures long since obtained, had timely application been made to a conscientious physician of learning, of judgment, and of skill in treatment.

The slighest feeling of distress is positive evidence of existing disease, and the sooner it is removed the better. By thus nipping disease when these signs first appear hundreds of lingering cases may be avoided and much suffering prevented.

These are some of the advantages we propose to gain by a scientific examination of the urine.

The facts which the optical appearances, chemical analysis, and microscopic observations reveal to the physician, compensate more than a hundred fold for the time required to make the examination. They throw such a flood of light upon the nature of the disease, and give such demonstrative evidence of the extent that both the kind and degree may often be definitely determined by an examination of the urine alone, and whatever the disease, seldom fails in furnishing us with the clue to the principles upon which it is to be treated.

No one should disregard the slighest feeling of indisposition no more than the severest suffering, but repair at once to a physician, whose whole time and attention is devoted to the discovery of the best mode of relieving the most afflicted, in the shortest time, and at the least possible expense.

Those living at a distance by sending a specimen (morning's urine), for scientific analysis and examination, can have the necessary medicine sent them by express.

The stone in the hat wouldn't let it move, and he called round to the doctor's office to ascertain if the physician thought any of his toes were broken.

THE POOR GUARDIANS.

Meeting Yesterday Afternoon—Monthly Reports—Bonds Approved.

The Board of Guardians of the Poor met in regular monthly session yesterday afternoon at their rooms on Fourth avenue.

The minutes of several previous meetings were read and approved, after which the list of supplies needed for the Poor Farm for April was read and the goods were ordered to be obtained.

Wm. S. Bullock, Superintendent of the Poor Farm, submitted the following report for March. Inmates in house March 1st, 1875, 354; males, 237; females, 117. During the month 12 males and 12 females were received. The discharges, elopements and deaths numbered 57, leaving on hand April 1st, 321 inmates. 1,505 tramps were furnished with meals, and 632 accommodated with lodgings. The report was received and filed.

Dr. Purviance, Physician of the First District, reported that he had made 138 visits in March, and attended to 65 office patients. Dr. McCandless, of the Second District, made 162 visits and had 189 office patients. Dr. Chessrown, of the South Side district, reported 226 visits, and 165 office patients. All the reports were placed on file.

The President read the resignation of Mr. John Phillips, as a member of the Board. It was received and the Secretary was instructed to notify Common Council of the vacancy.

General Sweitzer called attention to the fact that the lodging of tramps at the City Poor Farm on Sundays is assuming uncomfortable proportions, and besides being expensive is becoming the medium for the introduction of disease among the inmates. He said that several cases of small pox have already occurred and the disease has not yet been thoroughly cleaned out. He had no resolution or motion to offer in regard to the question, but he thought proper to refer to it, as it has become a matter which can no longer be overlooked or treated with indifference.

The bonds of Secretary Williams, and Assistant Secretary Todd, the former for $5,000 and the latter for $2,500, were read and approved, also the bond of Superintendent Bullock for $5,000.

The bond of City Treasurer Magee, as collector of the poor taxes, was fixed at $30,000, being an increase of $20,000 over last year.

Bills amounting to $8,538, were examined and ordered to be paid. After attending to another matter, which is referred to elsewhere, the Board adjourned.

THE COURT RECORD.

A Complete Report of the Proceedings in the Courts Yesterday.

United States District Court.

(Before Judge McCandless.)

Thomas B. Clark of Butler filed a petition for the adjudication in bankruptcy of him self, yesterday. The matter was referred to Register Shaffer.

Common Pleas Court, No. 1,

(Before Judge Sterrett.)

The case of A. W. Boyd & Co., vs. Theodore F. Phillips, previously reported, is still on trial. This is an action to recover the full price for a lot of woolen goods sold. The case turns on a question as to whether composition was properly made, the defendant claiming that the plaintiffs are entitled to only forty per cent. of the full amount.

In the matter of the voluntary assignment of Louis Jonas to Simon Kaufman, an order was made authorizing a private sale of effects in the hands of the assignee.

In the matter of the voluntary assignment of Wm. K. Hart et al., to D. T. Watson, Wm. Floyd and R. A. Cunningham, were appointed appraisers.

FINE SPRING GARMENTS.

To those of our readers who are thinking of leaving their orders for fine clothing at a reasonable figure, we would say visit the fine merchant tailoring rooms of Mr. Walter Anderson, late of 48 Sixth street. In his removal he took none of the old stock; everything on his tables is fresh and new, while for elegance of cut and fit his work can nowhere be surpassed and rarely equaled. Of course most of our readers know his rooms are No. 1 Fifth avenue, corner Liberty street, Diamond Bank building.

Spring Overcoats.

Now that the winter has fairly passed away, let all hands repair at once to the Boston One Price Clothing House, No 95 Smithfield street, and make an examination (with a view to buying of course) of the elegant and fashionable assortment of Spring Overcoats, just received at this fashionable and cheap emporium. Overcoats suitable for the youthful, the middle-aged and the man of years. No necessity for ordering one to measure and paying two prices for it when you can get one equally as good in value of material, as durable in make-up and as perfect in fit as one made to measure.

DON'T HACK, HACK, COUGH, COUGH!

Cough is a symptom by which various diseased conditions of the throat, bronchial tubes and lungs manifest themselves. But whether it arises from the irritation produced in the throat and larynx by taking cold, from an attack of Bronchitis, from incipient Consumption, or from various other causes, nothing will allay it more speedily or cure it more permanently than Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It does not matter whether it be a recent attack, or a lingering cough, the Discovery is in either case equally well adapted for its relief and permanent cure. In fact, it will cure a cough in one-half the time necessary to cure it with any other medicine, and it does it, not by drying it up, but by removing the cause, subduing the irritation, and healing the affected parts. No time should be lost in commencing the use of a proper medicine for the relief of a cough, for unless this course is pursued, serious and dangerous disease of the lungs is liable to result. Golden Medical Discovery is sold by all dealers in medicine.

ALLEGHENY POOR BOARD.

Meeting Last Night—Sundry Matters of Interest.

A regular meeting of the Allegheny Board of Directors of the Poor was held last evening, Mr. W. H. Morrison presiding and Mr. Robert D. McGonnigle Secretary.

A communication from Controller Brown was submitted, showing that the Board had only $800 to their credit in the city treasury. Communication received.

Mr. R. D. McGonnigle, Secretary, presented his report, showing the amount of relief given out during the month of March. Cash distributed to the resident poor, $1,953.08. Cash distributed to non-residents, $17.50. Cash for railroad tickets, arresting tramps, &c., $108.10. Orders for $277.89 worth of coal and $74.15 worth of shoes were given out. During the month the sum of $53.85 was collected for boarding paupers. Report received.

The report of Mr. D. T. Johnston, Superintendent of the Poor Farm, for the month of March, was submitted. He reported: During the month 20 males and 10 females were admitted to the poorhouse, and 48 males and 13 females discharged. There was one birth and three deaths at the house during the month. On March 31 there were 201 inmates in the poor department and 47 in the insane department. During the month there were 83 lodgers at the house, and 298 meals furnished persons. Report received.

Bills to the amount of $5,000 were approved, and the Finance Committee was authorized to borrow sufficient money to pay all the bills.

The bond of Henry Beckert as farmer at the Poor farm, was approved.

Mr. Grubbs moved that Dr. Riggs be requested to transfer all papers in his possession belonging to the Board to Mr. William Speer. Adopted.

The matter of awarding the contract for shade and fruit trees was taken up, and there being but one bid, that from B. A. Elliott & Co., the matter was referred to the Improvement Committee with power to act.

The Committee on Supplies was authorized to purchase a horse for use at the Poor farm.

The matter of purchasing an organ for the chapel at the Poor House was taken up, and it was agreed that the Board could not afford to purchase one.

At the suggestion of Mr. Speer a subscription list was opened for the purchase of the organ. He started it with $5.

Secretary McGonnigle followed with another $5, and Messrs. Neely and Walter $5 each, and Rev. Collier $10.

After attending to some other matters, adjourned.

NEW SURVEYS,

The Butcher's Run Flooded District—Streets to be Extended.

The Survey Committee, of Allegheny Councils, met last evening, Mr. John Cochran presiding.

The petition for the opening of a new street, from the junction of Centre street and Chestnut street, running parallel with Vinial street, to within a short distance of Perry street, and from thence down to Ohio street near the foot of the Troy Hill road, and from there direct to the river. The street to be fifty feet wide was presented.

It is proposed by this street to settle the matter of the drainage of the Butcher's Run flooded district,—this street to take the place of the proposed Valley street, and to settle the various plans for the improvement of that district.

After some discussion in regard to the matter, the Engineer was directed to prepare a plan in conformity with the plan presented by the petitioners. The committee also agreed to visit the district on next Tuesday afternoon and examine the proposed location of the street.

An ordinance was ordered to be prepared for the opening of Frazier street from Rebecca street to Western avenue.

An ordinance was also ordered for the opening of Preble avenue from Stanton avenue to Strawbery Lane.

Also an ordinance for opening of Sarah street from present terminus to Charles street. A communication from W. S. Bissel, asking that the lines of the proposed opening of Perrysville avenue, be changed. It was agreed to report adverse to granting the petition.

It was agreed to report the report of Viewers on the opening of Verner road back to Councils with a favorably recommendation.

An ordinance was ordered to be prepared appointing new Viewers on the opening of Beach street. Adjourned.

The Great Tribunal.

Public opinion is the great tribunal by which the value of all discoveries is judged. Its favorable verdict long ago stamped Hostetter's Stomach Bitters as the leading invigorant and alterative of the age, and the truthfulness of that decision is constantly receiving fresh corroboration in the shape of results the most complete and satisfactory, accomplished in our very midst. Tributes to its efficacy as a remedy for indigestion, constipation, nervous complaints, sleeplessness, general debility, rheumatism and kidney disorders pour in from every quarter; physicians emphatically commend it as a remedy for most inorganic maladies, and the press indorses the dictum of the profession. Thus the popularity of the reigning tonic stimulant of America is constantly widening, despite the invectives fulminated against spirituous preparations by the venders of mock temperance bitters, which the public some time since discovered to be fermented rubbish, and the sales of which are rapidly on the wane.

VEGETINE
WILL CURE
SCROFULA,

Scrofulous Humor.

VEGETINE will eradicate from the system every taint of Scrofula and Scrofulous Humor. It has permanently cured thousands in Boston and vicinity who had been long and painful sufferers.

Cancer, Cancerous Humor.

The marvelous effect of VEGETINE in case of Cancer and Cancerous Humor challenges the most profound attention of the medical faculty, many of whom are prescribing Vegetine for their patients.

Canker.

VEGETINE has never failed to cure the most inflexible case of Canker.

Mercurial Diseases.

The VEGETINE meets with wonderful success in the cure of this class of diseases.

Pain in the Bones.

In this complaint the VEGETINE is the great remedy, as it removes from the system the producing cause.

Salt Rheum.

Tetter, Salt Rheum, Scald Head, &c., will certainly yield to the great alterative effects of VEGETINE.

Erysipelas.

VEGETINE has never failed to cure the most inveterate case of Erysipelas.

Pimples and Humors on the Face.

Reason should teach us that a blotchy, rough or pimpled skin depends entirely upon an internal cause, and no outward application can ever cure the defect. VEGETINE is the great blood purifier.

Tumors, Ulcers or Old Sores

Are caused by an impure state of the blood. Cleanse the blood thoroughly with VEGETINE, and these complaints will disappear.

Catarrh.

For this complaint the only substantial benefit can be obtained through the blood. VEGETINE is the great blood purifier.

Constipation.

VEGETINE does not act as a cathartic to debilitate the bowels, but cleanses all the organs, enabling each to perform the functions devolving upon them.

Piles.

VEGETINE has restored thousands to health who have been long and painful sufferers.

Dyspepsia.

If VEGETINE is taken regularly, according to directions, a certain and speedy cure will follow its use.

Faintness at the Stomach.

VEGETINE is not a stimulating bitters which creates a fictitious appetite, but a gentle tonic, which assists nature to restore the stomach to a healthy action.

Female Weakness.

VEGETINE acts directly upon the causes of these complaints. It invigorates and strengthens the whole system, acts upon the secretive organs and allays inflammation.

General Debility.

In this complaint the good effects of the VEGETINE are realized immediately after commencing to take it; as debility denotes deficiency of the blood and VEGETINE acts directly on the blood.

Vegetine is Sold by all Druggists.
